

In today's world, organizations cannot afford to take a chance when it comes to cleanliness and good sanitation! Cleaning has become a primary weapon in the fight against emerging public health threats. The focus has shifted from "cleaning for appearance" to "cleaning for health".

To meet this need, Sanitation Products of America is pleased to introduce a training program in Sanitation called Certified Sanitation Professional (CSP). This training program provides four levels of training based on requirements of an organization.

CSP - The Program

The CSP training program was created by representatives from the cleaning industry and facilities management. This 4-level program offers basic and advanced "hands-on" training to people responsible for everyday sanitation and maintenance of a site. Topics from green cleaning & disinfecting to OSHA site requirements & equipment maintenance are covered.

Upon completion, a CSP will be prepared to improve the cleaning efficiency, advance the organization's sanitation program, achieve budget objectives while meeting cleaning goals, and improve the overall environment.

It's All About Saving Money!

Ultimately, the CSP 4-level program is all about saving money. By implementing an effective training and green cleaning program, organizations are positioned to improve operational efficiency and better serve their customers, which naturally leads to increase in revenue and/or cost savings.
